DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 14, 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 14, claims " ...each contact element partially extrusion-coated with plastic and clamped between two halves of the housing."

According to the specification (p. 2, lines 32-34), each contact element partially extrusion-coated with plastic or clamped between two halves of the housing

Claim 18, line 3, stats "...tie bar between the plurality of contact elements...".

Claim 19, line 2, recites " ... removing at least one tie bar."

According to the specification and claims 12 and 13, a term "tie bar" is related to element connecting the limbs (p. 3, lines 13). That element is not removed in process of manufacturing the connector claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 9-12, 14 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Broeksteeg.

With regard to claims 9 and 14 (as it could be understood due to 112 problem), Broeksteeg (US 5,066,236) discloses (Fig. 5-8) a multipole electrical connector comprising:

a housing (82) ; and a contact set (62) supported in the housing is partially extrusion coated with plastic of the housing.

Art Unit: 2833

With regard to claims 10-12, Broeksteeg discloses a forked shaped contact section (68 or 72) with limbs parallel each other and a tier bar perpendicular to the limbs.

With regard to claims 15-22, Broeksteeg discloses a structure of the connector which is manufactured using the steps claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 13 and 23 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Broeksteeg in view of Harting et al.

With regard to claim 13, Broeksteeg discloses all of the limitations except for a detent element.

Harting et al (US 6,196,853) disclose (Fig. 2) a detent element.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the Broeksteeg's contacts with the detent elements, as taught by Harting et al, to increase a contact pressure in a zone of contact mating.

With regard to claim 23, Broeksteeg when modified by Harting et al, discloses a structure of the connector which is manufactured using the steps claimed.
